GERMAN ENVOYS WILL NOT REPLY TO ALLIED NOTE

Announce That They Do Not Care to Endanger Conference.

Soviets Modify Memorandum Regarding Attitude Toward Debts.

Genoa, April 24.—(By The A. P.)—Once more today the gratifying Genoa conference, which has been alternating between fears and hopes and punctuated by crises which threatened to destroy it altogether, set itself grimly to the task of readjusting the economic life of Europe.

The announcement by the German delegates late last night that they would not reply to the allies second note, because they did not wish to endanger the success of the conference, was received everywhere with frankly uttered words of relief for almost everybody was beginning to despair secretly that the conference would end in economic achievement.

In all quarters today were heard words of praise for the patient efforts of the Italian leaders to re-establish harmony so that the conference might concentrate upon the constructive problems for which it was organized. Six sub commissions were scheduled to hold meetings today and the committee of experts on European questions made plain to take up seriatum the report on the reconstruction of Russia prepared by the allied experts who met in London.

This report concerns not only the question of the handling of Russia's debts, but also matters vital to foreigners in their relations with Russia bearing on the legal protection they are to have it their dealings in Russia.

The Soviet delegation has overthrown for the moment its noted memorandum issued as an answer to the experts because it is in contradiction with the later Russian note accepting the allies terms as a basis of discussion. Russian spokesmen explained that the memorandum which the powers found unsatisfactory, merely voiced the opinions of the Soviet delegates at the first stage of negotiations.

They were careful, however to make the reservation that this modification was contingent upon "the successful outcome of the present pour parleers" but the conference has produced so many shocks and longer are causing the panic which they did at the outset of the deliberations.

Everybody appears to desire some concrete results and then to return home feeling that at least a hopeful beginning has been made toward rebuilding the deranged economic machinery of Europe.

Such seems the spirit at the opening of the third week of the conference.

POINCARE HINTS AT WITHDRAWAL

Says France Insists That Conditions Agreed Upon Must Govern Parley Will Enforce Versailles Treaty.

Bar Le Duc, France, April 24.—(By The A. P.)—Premier Poincare announced in a speech here today that if the French delegation at Genoa could not go ahead with its work under the agreed conditions France would regretfully have to cease participation in the conference.

France will, if necessary, undertake alone to see that the treaty of Versailles is executed if the Germans default in their reparations payments, Premier Poincare intimated in his address before the general council of the department of the Meuse today.

The 31st of May, when the Germans must either accept the conditions laid down by the reparations committee or default in their payment, is an important date for France, said the premier. It is France's duty, he added, "in full independence", to assume the duty of maintaining the integrity of the treaty.

"All we ever have asked and all we ask today is the execution of the treaty," said M. Poincare, "and that we must have and shall have. The peace of Europe depends upon it. Our future and our national prosperity depend upon it.

"It is not by precipitate action or by decisions without reflection that we will obtan it. It is by persevering and methodical action. But it must be done."

The premier declared he ardently hoped for the cooperation of the allies in case Germany defaulted, but according to the terms of the treaty, he added, "each may in case of need, take respectively such measures as are deemed necessary and we shall not suffer it that our unfortunate country succumb under the burden of reparations alongside of a Germany that does not consent to make the necessary effort to discharge her debts.

"We shall defend in full independence, the French cause, and we shall not abandon any arms the treaty gives us."

SOVIETS DROP GOLD STANDARD

Moscow Group Abandons Plan to Establish Gold Standard For Monetary System.

Moscow, April 24—(By The A. P.)—While its delegation at Genoa is trying to reach an agreement with the European powers for economic aid for Soviet Russia, the Bolshevik government is seeking to bring its financial and other affairs to a sounder basis by work at home.

The all- Rusian communist party congress has been the preliminary battle field on which this international struggle to bring order out of chaos in Russia's finance has been fought.

Against the few remaining members of the communist party who still cling to the idea that money should be eliminated, M. Sokolnikoff, assistant to the commissar for finance, supported by the majority, carried his point that a sound monetary system for Soviet Russia can be gained only by curtailing the issue of paper money on one hand and by collecting taxes, to bring the money back to the government on the other.

To attempt to go to a gold standard immediately, he declared, would be futile, as the recent attempt to calculate taxes, etc., on a gold basis had failed because of the impossibility of setting exchange rates quickly enough to keep up with the market fluctuations.

Up to the last of March, 25 trillion paper rubles had been issued in 1922, it developed at the conference.

From April 1, the gold standard attempt was abandoned and all taxes, railway fares, etc., calculated on the basis of the paper ruble.

Municipalities must support themselves under the new plan. All government budgets are to be cut to the bone, and new budgets arranged every three months.

The council of commissars has appointed a special commission in line with the new policy to eliminate bureaucracy in the state institutions and has proposed a further reduction by fifty per cent of the government employes.

NO ADDITIONAL DAMAGE TO BUDS

Fruit Growers Believe Saturday Night's Frost Caused Little Harm to Blossoms.

Little additional damage was done the fruit by the frost of last night, in the opinion of fruit growers, although the temperature dropped to 25 degrees.

At the Cherry Hill fruit farm, W. W. Smith stated that there would be about 45 percent of the cherries saved and that between 40 and 50 percent of the apples had survived.

H. C. Price was of the opinion, also, that little further damage had been done, except perhaps in cases where new blossoms had come out since the freeze of Thursday night.

More frost is predicted for tonight by the weather bureau.

NEGRO KILLED BY TRAIN

Body Found Along Track At Columbia Center By Section Hands Early Sunday Morning.

The body of a colored man aged about 35 years, was found dead Sunday morning at 6 o'clock at the Mink street railroad crossing, one mile west of Columbia Center by a section man. The head and body were badly crushed and one leg was broken. Coroner Richards viewed the body shortly after and said that death was accidental, caused by being struck by a train. A Pennsylvania freight train had passed a short time before the man was found.

The man was unknown and there was no means of identification about him other than a letter he carried, written to Samuel Hagans or Hogans which is believed to have been his name.

He had 25 cents in his pocket and two plain gold rings. The letter was written April 12, and read:

"Mr. Sam Hagans (or Hogans.)

"Dear Son:—I got your letter and was glad to hear that you are well and this leaves me tolerable well. I got your picture and I forgot it when I wrote to you before. It was a good picture. I am sending you a flower of the lilac bush. John is well and sitting by the fire. It is cold enough to have a fire. I haven't heard from any of them since I wrote to you last. I send you my love and I want you to come and see us soon. Will close, answer soon, from your mother."

The letter was without an envelope and it could not be learned where it had been posted. The letter evidently was from the man's mother.

The body was taken to Pataskala to an undertaking establishment.

PHYPERS BOUND OVER TO COURT; OUT ON BOND

Student Who Admits Part in Episodes in Granville Waives Hearing.

Merchants Deny Hesitancy in Prosecuting Students.

(Special to the Advocate)

Granville, April 24.—Denial was made here this afternoon of the statement in press dispatches that Granville merchants whose places were entered Wednesday night, would not sign any affidavits against students. On the contrary, a business man declared, there are those interested in the case who will willingly prefer charges if it becomes necessary.

George Stuart, whose jewelry store was robbed, said Marshal Joe Shipley voluntarily signed the affadavit against Paul Phypers, whose confession to Columbus police uncovered the whole story.

Business men also denied that students made a demonstration Sunday night declaring they would withdraw patronage from any merchant who signed affidavits against students.

"If such demonstration was made, we know nothing about it," the business men declared.

Phypers, Doane academy student, brought back from Columbus Saturday night to answer to a charge of breaking the glass in the show window of the Stuart jewelry store Wednesday night, waived examination when arraigned before Mayor J. S. Graham. He was bound over to the common pleas court under bond in the sum of $500.

The bond was signed by Dean R. H. Tanner of the University and President C. W. Chamberlain of Denison university.

The hearing Saturday night was behind closed doors. Officials are silent regarding the matter declaring that information would be withheld until after another conference tonight.

While officials adopted a policy of silence, it became known that the matter is not yet closed and that other arrests will result from the confession made by Phypers. It is understood that at least two more affidavits will be filed.

The Advocate's story in Saturday night's edition brought the first public information to the village and the details of the confession were read with interest.

In this connection, a statement was made that other victims of holdups have recovered money taken from them. However, J. L. Griffing grocer who was held up several months ago, today denied that he had recovered any of the money taken from him.

"Last night a crowd of students gathered in the business section of the village as a demonstration against the merchants, the dispatch continues, "declaring that student trade would be withdrawn if they signed affidavits against Phypers. The decision of the merchants not to prosecute, however, was made known to last night's incident, a number of merchants declaring they would not prosecute a boy."

"President C. W. Chamberlain of Denison University" the dispatch says "is understood to have expressed his willingness to file formal charges against Phypers or any other student that might have been implicated in the burglaries. He is understood to have told Harry Miller, the night watchman who fired the buckshot into Phypers that he would "go to the bottom of the case if it meant loosing every student in the university."

The Associated Press today carries dispatches under Granville date saying that:

"Not one merchant whose place of business was broken into last Wednesday night will make an affidavit charging George Phypers, prep student of the Doane Academy, Denison University or any other student who may be implicated, with burblary."

A conference of village and college officials was scheduled for today and it was announced that a statement would be issued following that conference.

This morning, President Clark W. Chamberlain of Denison university said he would have no statement to make until after another conference with the village authorities.

College authorities are giving full cooperation to the investigation being made, a village official said Monday.

According to Phypers' story he is reformed — thoroughly reformed— from participtions in all future pranks.

"A year ago I caught a student trying to get into a house in Granville," he told the Columbus police. "He made all kinds of threats to me, warning me not to tell. I learned that this was a form of initiation to the organization, and I finally became a member.

"Wednesday night nine of us were playing poker in Talbot hall on the campus. We soon got tired of that and someone of the bunch suggested we go downtown to see what was doing. Then one of the boys dared another to smash a window. He did it. Things kept on that way, one fellow daring another to damage some property, until we had things pretty well upset.

"We trailed the watchman, and tried to get him to chase us. Finally on Broadway we broke the front window of the Stuart jewelry store. At this the gang separated and ran in all directions. The watchman was on our heels this time, and he discharged his gun. I caught the buckshot. Running to the room of two friends, who were not members of the gang, I told them what had happened. They went to Newark, got a taxicab for me, and I went to Columbus and went to Mt. Carmel hospital."

Phypers has eight pieces of shot in his leg and one in his hand. They were not removed as they were not causing him any pain. It was not until Saturday morning that Dr. Brock saw the story about the physical examination of the students being held, to find the wounded man, that he connected his patient with the activities of Wednesday night. Corporal Dolby and Officer Morgan took him to city prison where he was held for the marshal of Granville.

"At none of these episodes did we take anything," related Phypers at the same time bemoaning his fate. This youth stated that Dean Paul Tanner of the university was his uncle and that he had been living at his residence.

GOV. DAVIS CAN'T COME.

Owing to illness, Governor Harry L. Davis will not be able to attend the meeting in Granville Tuesday night, it was announced this afternoon by the committee in charge of the meeting.

RUSSIA'S HOPE IS IN REFUGEES

Colonel Snively Tells Church Audience Country Can Not Come Back With Bolshevists In Power.

Russia can not take her proper place in the world because of the failure of the soviet system of government, according to Colonel H. H. Snively of Columbus, who addressed the evening meeting at the Second Presbyterian church Sunday. Colonel Snively talked of his experiences while a member of the Russian army before America entered the war, and also of his observations in Poland and Russia while a member of the Polish relief expedition sent by the American army after the armistice.

Colonel Snively contrasted the conditions in Russia before and after the soviets had their system in complete operation. Every economic foundation of the country crumbled after the soviets took charge, Colonel Snively said, and the Bolsheviki lust for blood resulted in the decimination of the best of Russia's manhood and womanhood.

Those who survived the bullets and bayonets of the Reds, he said, were succumbing to starvation. Russia's only hope, Colonel Snively believes, lies in those Russian refugees who succeeded in escaping from the country after the Reds and are now in other countries. The doom of Poland and Rumania is certain if the Bolshevists continue to hold power in Russia, Colonel Snively believes.

Colonel Snively's address was the second of a series of Sunday evening talks arranged by a committee of men of the church. Announcement was made to Congressman Simeon D. Fess would speak in two weeks, discussing the results of the arms conference held in Washington during the winter.

INNOCENT MAN IS PARDONED

Governor Sets Man Free After Serving Six Years For Crime He Did Not Commit.

Columbus, April 24.—Governor Davis today pardoned Carl Papenfuss of Lucas county, who had served six years of a life sentence in the Ohio penittentiary, having been convicted on the charge of rape on the testimony of his 15 year old daughter. Evidence presented to Governor Davis proved the man to be innocent.

In pardoning Papenfuss, who is 62 years old, Governor Davis said he felt sorry that the "grievous harm done in such a miscarriage of justice can never be wholly undone."

The daughter on whose testimony the father was convicted, made affidavit that her statements of her father's guilt had been made under coercion of her mother who has since died and who, she now charges threatened to put her in an institution unless she accused her father, and afterwards held her to secrecy with the threat she would be sent to prison if she revealed the truth. Another daughter also made affidavit that her mother had threatened her and also with bodily harm unless she made a similar charge against her father.

Papenfuss' pardon was recommended by Common Pleas Judge Byron F. Ritchie who sentenced him; Attorney John C. D'Alton who prosecuted him; the state board of pardon and parole; Welfare Director MacAyeal, Warden Thomas of the penitentiary and a long list of Wabash railroad employes with whom Papenfuss had worked for 25 years.

At the time of conviction, Judge Ritchie expressed doubt as to Papenfuss' guilt and allowed Attorney John W. Raab who defended him, extra compensation to make further investigation assisted by Supt. G. W. Perry of the Pardon and parole board that his innocence finally was established.

Papenfuss has maintained all the while that his conviction was the result of a conspiracy instigated by his wife.

AUTO DRIVER DRAWS FINE OF $25 AND COSTS

Clarence Wagner was fined $25 and costs in municipal court this morning on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. An additional fine of $5 and costs was imposed by Judge Bolton on a charge of breaking a bottle on the street. Arresting officers were unable to state what, if anything, was in the bottle at the time it was broken.

F. J. Danford was fined $35 and costs on a similar charge and was ordered to pay the damage done to a car belonging to Florence Rowe.

Seven drunks were fined the usual $5 and costs.

RODGERS WINS NEW HEARING

East Newark Man Convicted of Violation of Liquor Laws Gets New Trial By Decision.

In a decision rendered this morning by Judge Charles N. Moore of the common pleas court, reversed the finding of the municipal court in the case of Patrick Rodgers, plaintiff in error, vs. the State of Ohio and ordered the case returned to the lower court for re-trial.

Judge Moore held that the municipal court should have sustained a demurrer filed to the affidavit in the case. Rodgers was fined $300 and costs by Judge Bolton on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, taken on a raid on his Indiana street home several months ago, and the case was carried to the common pleas court on error proceedings to reverse the finding.

Judge Moore affirmed the finding of the municipal court in the case of Curtis James, plaintiff in error, vs. the State of Ohio, an error proceeding to reverse the finding of the municipal court. James was fined by Judge Bolton on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor.

In common pleas court in the case of Edgar Rine, et al., vs. Mahlon Rine, a suit brought to set aside a deed to real estate in this county, and which deed purported upon its face to convey a fee simple title, Judge Charles N. Moore found that it was the intention of the parties at the time of the execution of the deed it should only convey a life estate. The court therefore ordered that the deed be reformed to give to the defendant a life estate only in the property, the fee to be revested in the plaintiffs at the death of the defendant. Bond for appeal to the court of appeals was fixed at $100.

INCREASE IS UPHELD.

Cincinnati, April 24.—Validity of the ordinance increasing the gas rate in Cincinnati, was upheld by the court of appeals here today. Suit to enjoin the increase was brought by a tax payer, who declared that a referendum on the raise was pending. The upper court held that the gas franchise predated the referendum clause in the state constitution and that a decision of the U. S. Judge Hollister held that such an increase was merely an addition to the original franchise.

SAINT PAUL'S SUFFERS HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE

Early Morning Blaze Causes $20,000 Damage To Downtown Church.

Edifice Oldest in City, Probably Will Not Be Rebuilt.

The St. Paul Lutheran church was badly damaged by fire early this morning when the church interior caught fire from the furnace. The alarm was turned in at 6:30 and all fire companies of the city answered the call and fought the fire for an hour and a half before it was under control. Firemen returned at 9:30 because the ruins were still smoking in several places.

While no accurate estimate of the damage can yet be made is is thought that the loss probably will reach $20,000. The front part of the church inside was badly charred and the floor to the basement burned through. Fire also reached the small balcony of the church and burned it.

Firemen believe that the fire caught sometime during Sunday evening from the furnace which is located near the floor, the furnace having been lighted at the church yesterday for the services. It is believed that the fire smouldered and spread for several hours before finally breaking into flames and smoke could be seen.

Postoffice attendants stated this morning that before the fire departments arrived that flames were coming out of the windows in the front of the church.

The church organ which less than six weeks ago was repaired and a new motor installed was ruined from the heat generated by the fire.

The church was built in 1834 and was the oldest church building in Newark. It was originally built by the Episcopalians but was sold to the Lutherans in 1889 and has been used by them since.

According to Trustee E. T. Wagenhals the church had between $15,000 and $16,000 in insurance on the building.

Rev. G. Bohon Schmitt, pastor of the church, stated this morning that he didn't believe that the church would be rebuilt. He said that during the past year plans for the building of a new and modern church had been formulated but that the plans had been laid aside because of the financial stringency.

A meeting of the board of trustees has been called for Tuesday evening when matters pertaining to the church will be discussed.

The trustees of the Baptist church, the Episcopal church, the Pythian Castle and the Masonic temple all have offered their buildings to the Lutherans for their use pending the location of suitable quarters.

HOW ABOUT YOUR MILKMAN?

Does he have his herd inspected?

Does he disinfect his bottles with boiling water or steam?

Is his milk done by the old, dirty, dangerous method, or is it done in the modern, sanitary way?

Milk is such a universal food that these questions are of the utmost importance to everyone. They are doubly important if you have children.

Dangerous, germ-laden milk may look all right, smell all right, taste all right. You must know about your milkman, not guess.

AT THE THEATERS

CECIL B. DE MILLE'S "FOOL'S PARADISE"

That the art of Cecil B. De Mille, famous Paramount producer, is still in process of expansion, was demonstrated with signal force when his latest production, "Fool's Paradise," was displayed at the Auditorium theater yesterday. This is a magnificent picture and it may be maintained that it is one of the best he has thus far presented to an admiring motion picture public.

The theme, as handled by Beulah Marie Dix and Sada Cowan, and suggested by Leonard Merrick's notable story, The Laurels and the Lady," is one of absorbing appeal while the production in point of direction, setting and acting is as far above the average motion picture as the tropical sun is different from the Arctic moon. It is a succession of surprises, dramatic moments that grow in intensity as they follow each other on the screen, and the character portayals are gems of mimetic art.

This feature remains over the rest of the week.

TOM MIX TO BE SEEN IN "UNTAMED" SEQUEL

A horse, a dog, and a man whose nature is like the wolf when cornered, are again the big attractions in the latest Tom Mix story, "The Night Horsemen," a Fox production which is coming to the Alhambra theater today and Tuesday. This story is based on the novel "Wild Geese" by Max Brand, and is a sequel to "The Untamed," in which Mix gave such sterling entertainment not many months ago.

BIG PRODUCTION IN "RIP VAN WINKLE"

A difficulty arose while Director Ward Lascelle was making "Rip Van Winkle" for Hodkinson release, which threatened to require the services of the League of Nations for its proper settlement. One of the important roles in "Rip Van Winkle" is that of "Schneider," Rip's dog, who, you will remember, was his inseparable companion. Mr. Jefferson wanted the pup eliminated entirely, for, as he said, "He didn't see how they could get a dog that would suit all nationalities." He said the English would want him to be a bull dog, the French a Poodle—and the Germans a Dachshund! But Mr. Lascelle's ingenuity found a solution: After about three weeks search he located a dog with an amiable disposition and an ancestry that assuredly covers the civilized globe. So everybody will be satisfied.

"Rip Van Winkle," released by Hodkinson will be the featured attraction tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday at the Grand theater.

DAVID BUTLER IN "THE MILKY WAY."

David Butler will be seen in a story of the farm and the city at the Grand theater Friday and Saturday when "The Milky Way" is the bill.

Cleverly written sub-titles often make or mar a photodrama. Many examples could be cited of successes or failures due to good or bad titling, for it is by means of titles that many of the most important parts of a story are conveyed to the audience.

Doris May's second Hunt Stromberg production, "Eden and Return" released by R-C Pictures and now being screened at the Grand theater, is a case in point. Its well written sub-titles give it an atmosphere of clean, fresh and youthful humor that fairly bubbles. Moreover, there there are not too many of them—a very common fault with many photoplays and particularly comedies in which there is a very evident tendency to try for funny word effects.

MISS DU PONT IN "SHATTERED DREAMS"

You'll see Miss du Pont at the Gem theater Wednesday in the midst of a bloodthirsty looking bunch of Apaches in her latest Universal starring picture, "Shattered Dreams" You'll also see Horbert Heyes, leading man par excellence as the most vicious of the underworld Parisians.

"Shattered Dreams," is the story of a young sculptress, studying her art in the Latin quarters and ambitious to get ahead—but a little too beautiful to have an easy time of it.

The dress of the Apache is something to be marvelled at—a costume primitive in its significance, weirdly striking in its appearance.

The true denizen of subterreanean Paris wears a short black velvet jacket with big patch pockets, and underneath a white shirt. At all times he wears a silk handkerchief about his neck, for there is a certain fear among these people that they will catch cold—and no wonder, considering how damp and sunless their haunts are, two or three stories under the ground. The handkerchief is black and so is the jacket and their long, velvet pegtop trousers," and the silk girdle about their waists.

Soft black patent leather pumps are worn by the Apache, thin soles and soft heeled for running purposes. The trousers just meet the shoes and fit closely about the calves and ankles.

SUPER WESTERN FILM COMING TO NEWARK

"The Fox," Harry Carey's first big Universal-Jewel super feature and which is the first super-western picture ever screened is at the Rex theater all this week.

The concluding scenes were made at Universal City at night, where a picturesque stretch of country was illuminated by a flaring brush fire around which dramatic action was filmed.

Harry Carey himself wrote "The Fox." It was adapted to the screen by Lucien Hubbard and filmed under the diretcion of Robert Thornby. It will make motion picture history by its dramatic force, its picturesque locale, its interesting cast and the fact that regular United States cavalry was used to furnish atmosphere.

ARTIST'S REVENGE IS OLD IMAGE TORTURE

Indians used to believe that if they could model a likeness of an enemy in clay, any torture they would inflict upon the image would be felt by the enemy. In such a manner were the weak able to avenge themselves upon the strong, with the strong none the worse for the experience, and the spirit of vengeance is satisfied.

Robert Milton, a young artist, suffers the need of a similar revenge in "The Woman Gives," starring Norma Talmage who plays the part of Inga Sonderson, when Inga calmly agrees that it will be better if they never see each other again. The way he satisfies his craving is one of the many dramatic scenes in the production which will be the attraction at the Gem theater, beginning today.

"I CHEERFULLY RECOMMEND IT"

State Commander of Woman's Benefit Association is free of backache and swollen ankles since taking Dreco.

Intense interest is being shown in this secton over the wonderful success being accomplished by the root and herb remedy Dreco. Men and women of prominence are daily testifying to the sterling merits of this medicine after giving it a fair trial.

Mrs. Lola Eastman

One of the recent statements given for publication is from Mrs. Lola F. Eastham of 121 East High street, Lexington, Ky., who is State Commander of the Woman's Benefit Association of the Maccabees, a very important position, and makes her known to thousands throughout the state. She writes:

"I am overweight and suffered intensely with pains in my back. My ankles were greatly swollen and I could hardly walk sometimes. My kidneys were out of order, I suffered daily from constipation and my liver was sluggish which caused dizzy spells and nervousness.

"Since taking Dreco I have reduced in weight, the pains in my back are gone, swelling in my ankles has disappeared and my other troubles entirely relieved. I feel like a new person entirely. I am certainly thankful that I found out the real merits of Dreco. I can conscientiously and do cheerfully recommend Dreco to anyone needing a tonic for the same troubles I had."

Dreco is being specially introduced by Evans' Cut Rate Drug Store in Newark and sold by druggists everywhere.

WEAK KIDNEYS MADE STRONG

Thousands die every year from Kidney and Bladder troubles who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life, If you're subject to weak spells, dizziness, head ache, lame back, lack of appetite, puffy eyes, specks, disturbed sleep, cloudy urine, rheumatism, annoying bladder troubles, clammy feet or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetis or Gravel, recognize them as danger signals warning you. Don't neglect them, but get Dr. Carey's Marsh-Root Prescription No. 777 (Liquid or Tablets). Evans' Cut Rate Drug Store and all good druggists have been authorized to return purchase price on first bottle to all who state they are not benefitted.

TAKES ISSUE WITH BISHOP

Advocate of Birth Control Differs With Catholic Clergyman.

Declares Society Will Be Benefitted By Adoption of Doctrine.

New York, April 24.—(By NEA.)—"Should women measure their lives by the number of their offspring?" asks Mrs. Juliet Barrett Rublee, vice president American Birth Control league.

"Is their chief concern in life to have as many children as they can?

This is the position taken by Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes in an article written recently for American newspapers in which he implied the only object of the marriage relation is children.

With this position I fundamentally disagree. I believe that the love union between man and wife has great value and importance aside from the question of children.

It brings greater health and beauty of body, mind and spirit. A sympathetic harmony, understanding and complete union between two natures leads to the highest spiritual development.

It is not "criminal and horrible to prevent human life by birth control." Under certain conditions it is humane—far more humane than bringing children into the world with a heritage of disease and insanity, with no chance whatever for health and happiness.

There are millions of people living in great poverty, in overcrowded districts, under conditions of filth and disease, and even of actual starvation—as in China.

For a man to bring children into the world under these conditions, when he knows that he cannot feed, clothe, or educate them properly, is for him to assume a responsibility he has no right to assume.

By so doing he dodges the real responsibility—to do his share toward making the world a better and nobler place.

This cannot be done by merely filling it with human beings regardless of their quality and of the effect their diseased bodies and defective minds may have on the healthy members of society and the future of the race.

When children follow each other too fast, the mother suffers in health, physically, mentally and spiritually. She becomes so weary and overburdened, so exhausted physically, so worried and worn mentally, that she is unable properly to care for her children or give them the love and devotion that every child should have.

The thought of having another often causes moods of despair, which lead even to suicide. She is afraid to face the tragedies of the future.

The following postcard recently received is typical of thousands of cases:

"Will you not help for my daughter's sake? She is 38 years old, has had 12 children, seven living, five dead, and expects an increase any day. She has kidney and heart disease and another child will mean sure death. She is a janitress and has her hands full as it is."

Can onyone disapprove of birth control in such a case?

In Holland, where they have birth control clinics, there are fewer births, but longer lives. People are healthier. The average height of the men has been increased three inches.

If each child born into the world came of healthy parents and could be assured of proper care and education, we would stand a real chance of making the world better and happier place and of training human nature to higher and nobler aims.

TOLL OF LONDON'S FOG

The worst fog since 1902 visited London at the end of last November. It is estimated to have cost the city $3,000,000 for each of the three days it lasted. Trains were delayed, omnibuses tied up, and 60 laden vessels lay helpless off Gravesend, while 20 miles away the sun shone brilliantly Health and property suffered alike, and six men were drowned by walking the piers. This fog was due entirely to smoke, and a new campaign was launched by the Coal and Smoke Abatement Society with the object of having abatement measures passed.—Scientific American.

"You children must finish your dinner!"

One of the first and most marked effects of Yeast Foam Tablets is to increase the appetite.

"If a growing child has no desire to eat, there is something serious the matter with him," says a noted specialist in the care and feeding of children. "A frequent and increasing cause of this failing or finicky appetite is lack of B vitamin."

This vitamin is found in greatest abundance in yeast; and Yeast Foam Tablets are made entirely of pure, whole concentrated yeast.

Give your child Yeast Foam Tablets. Watch him improve. Note how his appetite returns; how he will grow, put on normal weight and increase his strength and endurance!

Do you, like so many modern mothers, constantly have to stand over your children and literally MAKE them eat?

Why many foods are deficient

Many raw foods which originally contained vitamin lose this element through "preparing processes" such as milling of wheat and other grains; refining of sugar; heating foods to high temperatures; discarding of water in which food is boiled, etc. The vitamin B thus lost can be quickly replaced by the addition to the diet of Yeast Foam Tablets.

Is your child under the proper height or weight?

If your child isn't heavy enough or tall enough; if he is delicate, pale, irritable, backward in school, in all likelihood he is suffering from malnutrition.

This disorder retards children physically, mentally, nervously. It lowers their vitality and makes them easy victims of infection and contagion. Yet there are over 5,000,000 school children, from the homes of rich and poor alike, who are afflicted with it!

Weigh, measure and study your child. If he seems deficient in one or more respects, you may find Yeast Foam Tablets a simple and prompt corrective for his condition.

A Bible Thought for Today.

THE LOVE THAT SAVES:—For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

FREIGHT RATES.

That the Interstate Commerce Commission should lower freight rates is the conclusion reached by the Cincinnati Enquirer which finds that the policy of keeping up rates by the commission is demoralizing business. It says:

It has always been recognized that the freight rate structure is one of the most delicate pieces of machinery connected with transportation. Not even the intricate mechanism of the locomotive is as susceptible to jars or as easily dislocated and demoralized. There is nothing in the whole transportation world more scientifically adjusted than the rate sheets. At that they are not perfect nor has it been possible ever to construct them so that absolute justice was done to each shipper. Certainly, it never has been possible to satisfy all shippers

No greater blunder ever was made by the commission that when it ordered the general advance of freight rates on a percent basis. By that one order it threw out of balance tens of thousands of tarriffs to which years of experience and volumes of theory and, in many cases, outright experiment had been applied to work out an adjustment that would encourage traffic and be equitable to shippers.

THE GRANT ANNIVERSARY.

The 100th anniversary of the birthday of Ulysses S. Grant, April 27, 1822, is being widely celebrated. Gen. Grant's career is full of suggestion to ambitious people, particularly to those who have met discouragements.

Gen. Grant was different from most great geniuses in that such people usually show their power early in life. Grant, however, seemed to be a rather ordinary boy and took only mediocre rank at West Point. When he went into business he had poor success and was working for small salary when the war broke out. A career like this should make one feel that you can't judge a man's possibilities by his early failures. Many quiet and obscure people could accomplish great things if they would grasp their situation in lift with the implacable determination manifested by this renowned military leader.

ANIMALS WEEK.

The week April 25th to 30th, designated as Kindness to Animals Week, is a favorable time for teachers to speak to their children about the faithful dumb beasts that toil for the human race. Also about pet dogs, cats, rabbits, etc., whose comfort depends a good deal upon the fidelity and kind feeling of the little folks.

The average boy is thoughtless about animals. If left to himself he regards it as a good joke to tie a tincan to a cat's tail and see the harassed creature try to free itself. But children have generous natures. A little reasoning will show them how the abused cat feels, and thereafter to become ardent defenders of unhappy creatures.

Meanwhile there are grown-ups whose thick skins need a sizable fine to help them see things from the point of view of a dumb beast. Kindness to animals week is an excellent time to round up some of these fellows.

Police are using spyglasses to see numbers of speeding automobiles. The speeders will now have to run still faster so the cops can't get their numbers.

Up to date none of the women folks has been seen hanging around the Jenkeet corners and complaining because the men's trousers aren't long enough.

The American people aren't looking for anything so laborious sounding as "Muscle Shoals." They want a Soft Snap Shoals.

Formerly the newspapers pleased the women by publishing cooking recipes, but now they have to print bridge directions.

HALF A BILLION DEFICIT

(New York World)

While the Republican Senators in caucus were voting to pass a Soldier's Bonus Bill during the present session of Congress, Secretary Mellon was estimating a Treasury deficit of $484,000,000 for the fiscal year that will begin July 1.

A matter of $484,000,000 may not seem much to a Congress that likes to think in billions of other people's money, but it represents half the annual expenditures of the Government previous to the war. The actual deficit is likely to be much greater than Mr. Mellon's estimate, because he has counted among the Treasury receipts the interest on the British debt to the United States although there is not yet a scrap of official paper to show that this interest will be paid during the coming fiscal year. By the time that a trial balance becomes imperative the deficit is likely to be nearer three-quarters than half a billion.

Now comes Mr. Fordney to explain that it is the intention of the House that the bonus shall be paid out of the interallied indebtedness to the United States. Nothing could be simpler than Mr. Fordney's system of international finance. The Allied debts are to be converted into long-term bonds, and "we intend that as soon as these long-term bonds are in our possession they shall be guaranteed by the United States Government and sold to the American people and that the bonus shall be met with the proceeds thereof."

Mr. Fordney's theory of bonus finance, therefore, rests on the assumption that the Allies will be able to pay the interest on the debts they owe the United States. If they cannot pay the interest the Treasury will have to pay it, inasmuch as the Government will have guaranteed the bonds. Then to make sure that the Allies will be unable to pay, Mr. Fordney and his committee have framed a Tarriff Bill which will make it impossible for them to pay in goods, and as they have no gold there is nothing else in which they could pay.

Mr. Fordney's method of financing the bonus belongs to the lighter realms of the human imagination. But Mr. Mellon's deficit is a real and substantial thing which is far more likely to increase than to diminish. Even for the current fiscal year the Secretary is able to figure a small surplus only because of the failure of the Government to meet certain railroad obligations that must be paid year; so even the existing surplus is a bookkeeping fiction.

Mr. Mellon's deficit figures will make a strong appeal to all the tax-paying elements in the country, but they will make no impression on Congress. The Secretary has repeatedly pointed out the inability of the Treasury to pay a bonus unless there is a definite increase in taxation to take care of it, but Congress has never paid the slightest attention to anything the Secretary has said on the subject. He is only a banker and financier, while Congress lives in a world of politics in which there are elections on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November every second year.

Once get the bonus on the statute books and Congress is equipped for the fall elections. What is a deficit of a half a billion or even a billion? Let the Secretary of the Treasury do the worrying about that.

Did You Know.

That Central Park in New York City covers 843 acres? Of this area 185 acres are in lakes and reservoirs and 400 acres in forest, in which more than half a million trees and shrubs have been planted. There are ten and a quarter miles of roads, five and a half of bridle paths, and thirty-one of walks. Frederick Law Olmsted and Calvert Vaux were the landscape architects of the Park. Work was begun on it in 1857.

A Young Man's Fancy.

F. P. A. begins a spring poem thus in the New York World.—

"Muriel, as the month of April,
With his celebrated showers,
Fills the fatuously gay prill,
Weeps upon the vernal flowers."

Fearing the little prill had become extinct we are relieved to know that a specimen has been found evidently in the best of spirits. If memory serves, the prill is of a delicate purple color and its musical note is as different as possible from the raucous tones of the aeloup recently discovered by Ted Robinson of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. We wonder that more people do not write poetry when it merely requires a little determination. All of which reminds us of the following gem:—

"The wind howled and blew down our well sweep,
Dad and I had to fix it up again.—sheep."

The memorial, which cost $40,000, stands 100 yards from the international boundary where the 49th parallel meets Boundary Bay.

Q. What is the "Far Eastern Question?" K. D. S.

A. The complex problems involved in the rise of Japan and the awakening of China and their relations to the great European and American powers are known in international politics as the Far Eastern Question.

Q. What is the difference between a farce and a comedy? I. M. C.

A. A farce is a dramatic piece of a broad character and the difference between it and comedy proper is one of degree and not of kind. The aim of both is to excite mirth, but while the comedy does so by comparatively faithful adherence to nature and truth, the farce assumes a much greater license and may make use of any extravagance or improbability that may serve its purpose.

Q. To what degree is farm labor in this country more efficient today than it was 40 or 50 years ago? A. W. G.

A. Comparisons in the statistics of crops show that in the last half century the American farmer's potential efficiency has been increased 2,000 per cent by the saving in labor time. For example, a quantity of grain may be sown today in 33 minutes that formerly required 10 hours and 36 minutes and a job or harvesting done in 1 hour that would have taken 46 hours and 40 minutes in the old days.

Q. When was the Federal Trade Commission established? F. J. W.

A. The Federal Trade Commission was created by congress by the act of September 26, 1914.

Q. What is the "Intelligence Quotient?" C. P.

A. The Intelligent Quotient of a feeble-minded person is found by dividing his mental age by his actual age. Thus a child of 12 with the intelligence or mentality of 9 would have an Intelligence Quotient of 9-12 or 75.

CROOKS WORK IN CAPITAL

They Even Find Members of Congress Easy, Sometimes.

One Paid Real Money for Influence of Washington Papers.

(By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.)

Washington, D. C., April 21.—There are a great many ways of making money without working for it and without giving anything real for the money received. There are the time worn gold brick schemes and other hoary old tricks of the past of which, however, the public generally never appears to become aware, because they go on and on turning in rich harvests of gold to the crooked promoters and manipulators.

Washington, rather than New York, probably furnishes the best field for this kind of dishonest work of a high grade—if that term can rightly be applied to it. In the unpublished history of Washington for the past 30 or 40 years, if it could be written, are some amazing and often amusing incidents of this sort.

One source of revenue has sprung from the fact that often there come to Congress men of wealth who have little else to commend them. One of these men—and he did not come from the backwoods, but from very close to broadway and Forty-second street—was so gullible that he paid a good round sum to unscrupulous men he met to "buy" the influence and goodwill of certain Washington newspapers. Needless to say, the newspapers did not know that their friendship was being sold, on the streets of Washington, and if they exhibited any goodwill toward this particular man, it was by saying nothing about him.

Another—and in this one members of congress figure as well—is to secure the introduction of some resolution or bill proposing drastic actions or laws of some kind. Then the alarm is sounded, and money often rolls into the coffers of the originator of the scheme, who organizes a society to fend off the awful threat contained in the piece of proposed legislation. It can be asumed that the congressman is innocent of duplicity in this matter. Memberships in the society are sold, probably at a dollar apiece.

There is another case of a considerable amount of money being made out of a diplomatic appointment. When this occurred this particular diplomatic post was going begging. No one seemed to want it. There was a general impression that because of conditions existing then, no one could acquit himself with much credit and glory in the position.

In this situation, the man who ultimately made money out of the deal suggested to the wife of a certain wealthy man that he seek the appointment. Then the manipulator gave careful directions how to proceed. Dinners must be given, with a carefully selected guest list. No mention must be made of the vacant post in the diplomatic corps. All of this was done. In the meantime, this manipulator, who really did have certain standing and influence here, had ascertained beyond doubt that the post would go to anyone who so much as intimated that he would accept it.

Naturally, the dinners meant nothing. That was just to make the thing look hard, and as if influences were at work under the surface to obtain the job. At the proper time the appointment was made. By prior arrangement—not with the man appionted, but with his wife—the manipulator of this thing was paid a sum rumored to be no less than $25,000.

All of these things—most of them at any rate—are quite within the law. No criminal statute is fractured by the operations. It is just "slick" work.

There is the instance of a certain event that was to occur in a Latin-American country in which the American government has been forced to take a sort of elder-brotherly interest. Disorders were feared. It was felt that only the United States could guard against this. One faction of the politicians in this country had a private representative in Washington. He sought out an obscure but supposedly influential man to help him. This man did have a wide acquaintance, and was able to ascertain quickly that the American government had made up its mind months before to take the desired action. This man had to make the job hard, of course, and made daily reports of fancied developments to the representative of the Latin-American country. In the fullnes of time, the thing for which he had been engaged naturally transpired, and he collected his fee—that is, he got half of it. Some hitch developed, and it was his frenzied efforts to get the rest that brough the transaction to the attention of a few people, at least.

There is a well remembered case of a newspaperman in Washington who abused the confidences and privileges which all of them enjoy. Naturally, a great many newspapermen in Washington often are the possessors of information in confidence which would be of great value to certain corporations if they could learn it in advance of general publication. A congressional investigation brought out this man's connections. He was drawing down, in retaining fees from big corporations a sum in the neighborhood of $30,000 a year, an excellent income for any newspaperman.

Naturally, throwing the light of publicity on this man's efforts made him of no further use to these corporations, at least in the same capacity, and the newspaper with which he had been connected soon let him go. But in the meantime he had accumulated a nice little nest egg, enough to permit him to start a perfectly honest business in which he is reported to be doing nicely.

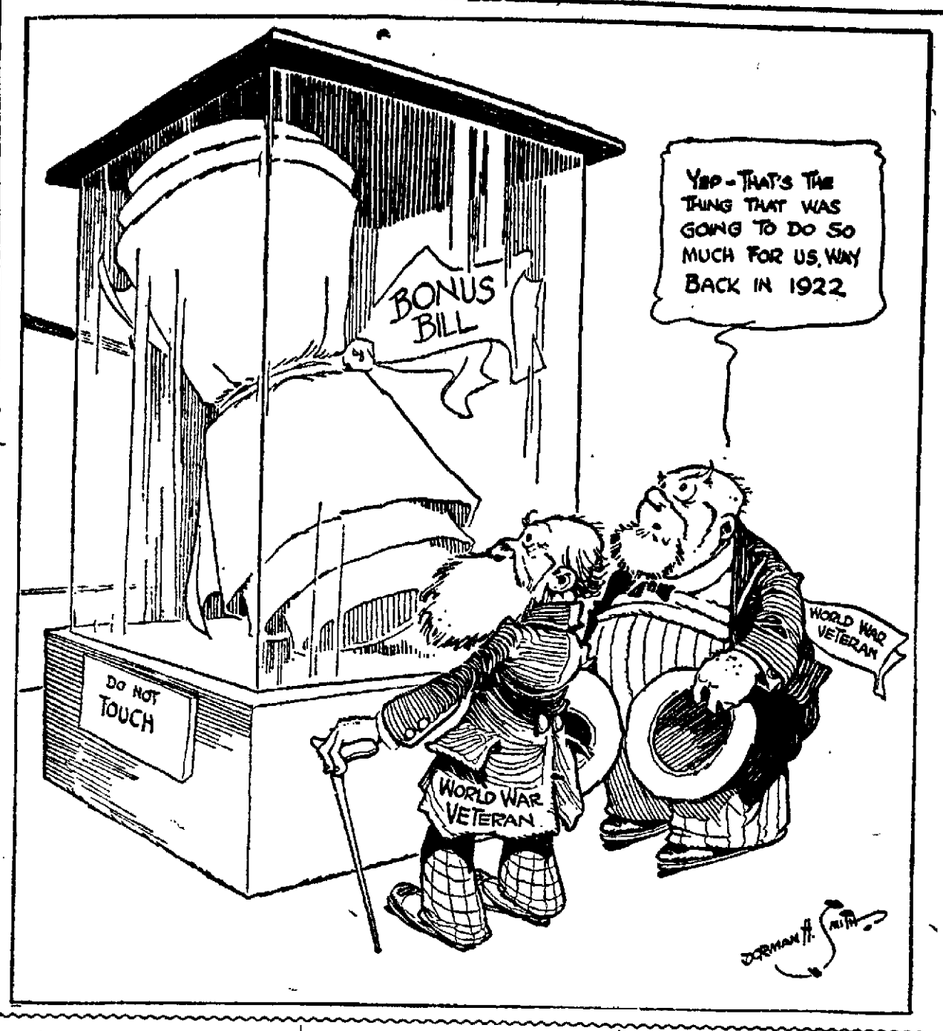

To return to Latin-America, the incident related a few paragraphs above was trifling compared to the "clean up" made by another man in Washington in much the same way. A certain one of the American republics was anxiously awaiting formal and favorable action by the state department on an important matter concerning that republic. Quite by chance, this man learned that the state department had fully made up its mind to this course, but that action would not be immediate. Accordingly, this man got in touch with the president of the Latin-American republic through the proper channels, and made a deal with that government whereby he would get a considerable sum of money—it was said to be $100,000—for influencing the American administration to take the desired action. Then this man sat tight, sending occasional cablegrams to give the impression of doing something and waited until this large plum dropped into his lap, which it did in a few weeks after the arrangement was completed.

Another trick which has been turned from time to time in Washington is done by outsiders, men whose names are high in the business and financial world. That is planting false "news" to influence the stock market, and cleaning up on the consequent depression or inflation of particular stocks. Once it was done in this way: One of the members of the staff of the Washington bureau of one of the press associations was sent for, and the information given him that the oil wells in a certain rich field would be exhausted, and yielding nothing but salt water in a short time. This was the confidential report of experts who had examined the field, the reporter was told. He was also told that under no circumstances was he to divulge the source of his information. The man who gave out this information is nationally known and generally respected.

The reporter didn't like the sound of the tale, and while he was debating with himself in the hotel lobby, he saw one of his confreres from a metropolitan daily entering the hotel. He found out this man had gone straight to the man he had just left. Evidently it was by appointment. He became more suspicious. An hour later another newspaperman came, evidently to keep an appointment with the same man.

The consequence was that the wise young man from the press association refused to handle the story. However, one or both of the other men used it, the stock was depressed considerably by the rumor—Wall street is highly susceptible to rumors—and presumably the crowd on the "inside" who had gone short of this stock made a killing.

NEWS NOTES OF AMERICAN LEGION

Fed up upon "wrong number," "line's busy," and "line's out of order," the American Legion post of Decatur, Ark., bought the citys telephone company and after overhauling the system, will operate it.

Use of the Stars and Stripes to advertise a junk shop or a fish market now is forbidden in New York. Following in American Legion's issuance of instructions on how to respect the flag, the New York legislature passed a bill prohibiting reproductions of the flag on "business stationery."

Starting simultaneously in every April 30, the international association of Rotary clubs and the American Legion will combine to observe "Boys' Week" with exercises and programs of interest and help to young America.

When Major General Clarence R. Edwards, leader of the Yankee division in the world war, asked a group of American Legion men at Holyoke, Mass., what type of adjusted compensation they would take, 55 percent elected the insurance feature, 10 percent the farm and home aid and for rest declared for vocational training.

The part that America played in the World war will be portrayed by a huge painting given by the American Legion and preserved by the French government in the World war exhbit in the Musee de l'Armee, Invalides, Paris, France. The museum, founded by Napoleon as a home for his soldiers, was visited by thousands of Yankee doughboys during the war.

Farmers gave a grove of 200 trees and the village gave a lot to the Elizabethtown, Ind., post of the American Legion when it wanted a community home. The ex-soldiers will elect a log clubhouse, doing all the work themselves.

New York City is hearing voices from the clouds as Lieut. B. W. Maynard, former army chaplain, is flying over Manhattan with a group of girl singers. The airplane is equipped wth a radio broadcasting device. The stunt was arranged to raise funds for an American Legion camp in the Adirondack mountains for sick and wounded service men.

Current Business Conditions

By GEORGE E. ROBERTS

(From the Monthly Bulletin Issued by The National City Bank of New York for April)

THE general feeling in business circles is one of strengthening confidence that the corner has been turned and that 1922 will be a better year than 1921. The improvement in fundamental conditions and in general feeling since the first of the year has been very marked; indeed, from the middle of January to the first of March optimism was perhaps over-pronounced, and a moderate reaction in some lines has naturally resulted.

The stock market, which is prompt to reflect and even anticipate changes in fundamental conditions, has been creeping upward for the last six months in a slow but persistent movement which suggests faith that better days are coming.

Railroad traffic, as indicated by the reports of car-loadings since the first of the year, have been running ahead of last year, although January gross earnings were about 16 per cent. below those of the same month of 1921. On the other hand the net earnings of 199 roads were $57,421,605 in January against $28,331,956 in January, 1921, which reflects the reduction in operating expenses.

Trading in all lines is on a short order basis. Foreign buyers wish to avoid the risks of exchange fluctuations so far as possible, and in the domestic trade there is a prospect that in some lines, particularly clothing and textiles, prices may be lower. There is general agreement, however, that both at home and abroad stocks have been worked down to the minimum and that there must be constant buying to meet the demands for current consumption. This is one respect in which the situation is decidedly more favorable than it was in the latter part of 1920 and throughout most of 1921.

The steel industry has made a marked recovery, the United States Steel Corporation now operating at about 70 per cent. of capacity and the independent companies in the aggregate at probably 60 per cent. When it is considered that production capacity has increased about 50 per cent. since before the war, it will be seen that this is far from a state of stagnation.

The implement industry, although still far from normal, is much better than at this time last year, and that is the case also with the automobile industry, and even more so with the building industry. The figures for the latter are quite remarkable, permits in 161 cities aggregating $132,909,000 in February last, against $50,433,167 in February, 1921.

The Situation in Agriculture

The chief factor in the change of sentiment which has occurred since the first of the year has been the rise in prices of farm products. It came so easily and naturally as to demonstrate that the country had been suffering from excessive pessimism, and that in the natural order of things the economic situation, given reasonable time, would recover its equilibrium. Grain prices in March lost a part of their February gains, but the reasons were obvious and there was no serious loss of confidence. The breaking of the drought in the southwest and improvement in the outlook for the Winter wheat crop was the principal factor in the decline. For several months the country had been hearing that the condition of the Kansas wheat crop was critical and getting worse every day, and then came snow and rain, and the prospect is now reported good for a large crop. The world situation in wheat is closely balanced and any important news is likely to have more than the usual effect. Australia and Argentina are both exporting freely. New wheat from India will be available within a month, and the harvest is only three months off in this country. As the end of the crop year approaches, opinions about the supplies give way to realities. There have been two positive opinions as to whether or not this country was selling itself short, but the opinion is now general that there will be enough to go around.

Corn and oats always are influenced more or less by wheat, and both are down from the top. The stocks in the central markets are well up to storage capacity, and the speculative market is not inclined to take more. The price of corn will be dominated in the long run by the price of live stock, particularly hogs. Ten dollars per hundred for hogs mean that a large part of the corn crop is being marketed at very profitable prices.

OTHER FACTORS INFLUENCING CONDITIONS

Aside from the unsettled and extremely unsatisfactory state of the reparations question, European affairs have been progressing in a manner to give encouragement.

The Genoa Conference, although of vague import, should accomplish something by bringing the high representatives of all Europe together.

The disturbance in the textile industry of New England is unsettled and spreading, with a likelihood of involving the entire textile industry of that section before it is settled.

The public has taken the impending coal strike very quietly, refusing to believe that there will be any serious effects upon business.

The labor organizations may have more power than the employers, but both are subject to economic law. There is more to the industrial problem than a mere trial of strength between employers and wage-workers. Industrial peace and progress is dependent upon a general understanding of this fact.

The unfavorable factor which continues to retard industrial recovery is the unbalanced relationship between values in the different industries, resulting from the uneven fall of prices and wages.

Although the exports of all meat products in 1921 increased 3 per cent. in pounds over those of 1920, hog products fared better than beef.

Cotton is about where it was at the beginning of March. As the world has been living on reduced consumption for several years, it very much needs to use more cotton, and the situation is disquieting. If the season should be bad for the growing crop we may have very high prices for cotton. Such an outcome is very undesirable, for it will mean high prices to consumers with little compensating benefit to growers.

Prospects Encouraging

On the whole there seems to be a good basis for believing that agriculture in all branches will have a better market for the next crop than for the last one. The farmer's costs are declining, and we believe that the necessary readjustments to bring industry into balance require that they shall continue to decline. It is in the interest of all business that the farmers, the most numerous class in the country, shall have a fair show in the field. With agricultural production increasing in Europe the farmer cannot expect the prices of his products to go back to the high levels due to the war, and if he has made mistakes of judgment by buying property at high prices he has lots of company among people who are not farmers, but he has a right to expect that one way or another, his products shall have a purchasing power in relation to other commodities and services equal to that of before the war. We do not think that much can be done by means of legislation to secure this to him, but are positive in our opinion that economic law will bring it to him, and we counsel all other groups to cheerfully accord it to him as rightfully due.

Former Licking Co. Woman Gives Away Big English Estate

A story from London tells of Mrs. Woodhull Martin presenting to the Sulgrave institution, an organization for fostering kindly relations between Great Britain and the United States her beautiful Elizabethian manor at Breden, Worchestershire with its valuable contents and surrounding estate, besides a series of guest houses for the use of Americans and British interested in the promotion of friendship between the two nations.

Victoria Claffin Wooddhull Martin, financier, reformer and editor of the Humanitarium Magazine is a native of Homer, Licking county, where she was born in 1838. She was probably the first woman to seek office of president of the United States, being nominated for the presidency in 1872 by the Equal Rights party. She memoralized congress in 1870 for woman's suffrage. Her first husband was Channing Woodhull, who died in 1873 and her second husband was John Ridulph Martin, who died in 1897.

According to the Morning Post of London the gift is a thanks offering for "the success of recent efforts to promote Anglo-American friendship.

CHAPTER XXI.

KITCHEN CHAOS.

It was almost dinner time when I reached home after that trying day at the Little Playhouse. Not until I turned the key of my apartment did I remember in what a sad state I had left my suite.

The bed was unmade; Jack's pajamas adorned his shoe box; my house dress decorated a chair; the bathroom was strewn with damp towels; dust covered my handsome new davenport; and all the kitchen utensils I owned were piled in the sink side by side with my adorable Wedgewood dishes.

The cooking things had stood for 24 hours, since dinner the night before. And I positively hated them, as if they were at fault—and not I!

I rushed into my white uniform and hurried about my work. I hoped to put the place in some kind of order before my husband arrived To add this chaos to our recent discussion of finances was unthinkable.

But where to begin? I turned to my kitchen. Never had a pile of pots and pans loomed so formidably!

I felt that there was some hitch between my intention as a wife and my accomplishment.

For example, from an artistic standpoint, my little kitchen is quite charming to me. It's a tiny room, with a Pullman table between highbacked benches.

Checked gingham curtains brighten my windows and my aluminum spoons and saucepans hang on the wall gaily and handily.

I love my pretty kitchen when it is in order. But when chaos prevails, it's an utterly depressing spectacle. Tired out by the rehearsal and the sewing, amazed by the confusion which confronted me wherever I turned, I began to cry.

With hot tears trunning down my nose, I took up my frying pan. Before scouring it, I melted the fat and inevitably burned my fingers, nearly dropped the pan and spilled the grease down the front of my nicest white apron!

And that is exactly all I succeeded in accomplishing before my husband came home.

For Jack was early He had been interviewing "a prospect" in our end of town, and had rushed home to surprise me.

Surely Jack is the most adorable of husbands. Never from a glance or a word would I have suspected that he was either surprised or shocked by the state of our flat.

I threw off my greasy apron wiped my eyes and smiled, and snuggled down on my grand daven port. And Jack held me close and neither of us spoke. Just being together, we seemed to rest each other.

Never had I seen Jack look so harassed. He shows a nervous strain more than most men. He shows it in his eyes and in two vertical wrinkles in his forehead.

I was glad that the back of the davenport was toward the kitchen door. I smoothed the horrid wrinkles from his brow while demanding the reason for them.

"Business going badly, Bryan, prospect I told you about, is closing his factory," he explained. "And I was relying on my per centage to pay part of our furniture bill!"

I didn't like to be reminded of my extravagance. I stopped him with a kiss.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You can know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

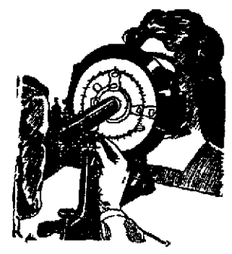

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

Get this pan and cut YOUR fuel bills

This offer is good from April 24th to May 6th ONLY

Because of the EXTRA thickness, extreme hardness and great density of the metal used in "Wear-Ever" utensils, "Wear-Ever" aluminum stores up a larger quantity of heat and retains it for a longer time than is possible with the soft, thin metal used in ordinary utensils. As a result, "Wear-Ever" utensils heat evenly all over and, once heated, they maintain a cooking temperature over a reduced flame.

Hence, "Wear-Ever" utensils not only insure better-cooked, better-flavored foods but they require LESS heat and SAVE from one-third to one-half the fuel required by ordinary ware.

This TWO-quart Stew Pan is genuine "Wear-Ever"—not a "Wear-Ever" second because "Wear-Ever" never makes any seconds—so get your stew pan in the TWO-quart size TODAY.

RODEBAUGH REO COMPANY SELLS TWO STANDARD MOTOR CARS

Has Agency For Reo and Hupmobile With Salesrooms in South Third Street—Firm Also Operates Service Station For Reo and Hup Owners.

The Rodebaugh Reo company, while one of the newer automobile companies in Newark, has the agency for two of the best known and standard automobiles manufactured, the Reo and the Hupmobile. The company was organized here about six months ago with H. A. Rodebaugh of Reynoldsburg and H. W. Smith of Newark as the interested parties. Rodebaugh has been located in Reynoldsburg for the past seven years where he has had the agency for the Reo cars and speed wagon. His success in the automobile line is well known and he is meeting with success in the same field here as agent for the Reo and Hupmobile cars.

The Rodebaugh company has acquired the salesrooms in the market building on South Third street, formerly occupied by the Newark Buick company as a salesroom for Buick cars. The lease to the room was acquired when the Buick people moved to the new sales and show room in the new building on South Fourth street.

H. W. Smith of Newark, who has given up a general contracting business to engage with Rodebaugh in the automibile business, is well known. For many years he has been located at his office in North Park Place and has built many buildings here in Newark.

The Rodebaugh Reo company carries a complete line of service parts at their salesroom and at the Dustheimer Garage on South Fifth street which is the authorized service station for the Reo and Hupmobile cars in Newark.

The Reo line of passenger cars and trucks, the gold standard of vaules, has represented dependable motor transportation since 1904, when Reos were first placed on the market. The line of Reo cars is complete and offers a type of vehicle individually suited to every phase of business and social use. Reo cars come in the following models. Reo Houring car, five pasenger $1495, Reo Touring, seven seven passenger $1585, Reo Roadster $1595, Three passenger Coupe $2335, Sedan $2435. The speed wagon chassis is priced at $1250.

All Reo cars are mounted on the incomparable Six chassis—"The Six of Sixty Superiorities." The new light seven passenger touring car has been called the "most sensible touring car built." It has a seating capacity for seven adults without crowding and is equipped with metal framed curtains which open with the doors and folding auxiliary seats. The three passenger roadster is the utility car with all of the qualities of the touring car in a vehicle designed for those who do not need a large seating capacity. The three passenger coupe, the business coupe, is a radical departure n pasenger car design. It has all of the convenience of the regular coupe with the serviceable dress of the roadster. It is upholstered in leather.

In the four-pasenger coupe and in the sedan, the Reo line of cars marks the final expression of closed car comfort. In the coupe the driver's seat is forward from the main seat and the auxiliary seat is fully upholstered and fitted with arm rests. The car, as the sedan, has a full aluminum body and is beautifully upholstered and appointed. The sedan, seating five passengers, is less than 300 pounds heavier than the touring car. It is equipped with the highest quality fittings, with heater in the tonneau.

The Reo speed wagon has earned its name and established its unusual performance records through the design of the chassis. All the way through the speed wagon is Reo. It was designed as a complete unit and is not an assemblage of alien parts It typifies the sane, sound engineering policies that have characterized the Reo since 1904. The speed wagon has more engine power than any other vehicle of equal carrying capacity, most rational distribution of weight on wheels, minimum cassis weight, a liberal use of forgings instead of castings or stampings, a policy of 50 percent oversize nnd is a vehicle that discounts mere carrying capacity, pneumatic tires that give from 8,000 to 12,000 miles of service. It has the lowest rate of depreciation of any commercial vehicle and sells at a price that represents a very great value.

The Rodebaugh Reo company assumed the agency in Newark for the Hupmobile four-cylinder car last week. The Hupmobile has a record for real economy in daily service, long life and fine performance. The car is priced as follows: Touring five passengers, $1,250; roadster, $1,250; two pasesnger coupe $1,475, four passenger coupe, $1,875; sedan, $1,975, all prices f. o b.

SHIPPING CASES FOR RUBBER.

A new case for shipping sheet rubber has been introduced into Singapore shipping circles by an American firm. These reach local exporters in the form of sheets made of 100 per cent fiber, the riveting, packing and wiring being done by the shippers. The thinness of the sheets enables the cases built from them to hold from 12 to 25 percent more weight of rubber than the old wooden boxes, and the new construction is practically unbreakable, very cleanly, and waterproof.

NEW STAGE EFFECT.

A Russian widow, Mme. Ivan Boutkovsky, has devised an ingenious scheme for "multiple scenery," whereby two scenes are painted upon one canvas. Colored lights are thrown upon this drop scene, which brings out certain colors while concealing others, so that with the same stage setting either a landscape or an interior may immediately be brought into view. Playing several acts with one set of scenery is an idea that should appeal strongly to producers, both as a novelty and from an economical point of view.

The new twnkle dance must be the kind that raises a smile.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

EARLY CIRCUSES.
Editor of the Advocate:—A news note in Friday's paper reads: "Barnum's Circus was here April 19, 1880." It may interest your readers to know that Barnum's circus was here in June 1850, also—seventy-two years ago.

It was then called P. T. Barnum's World Renowned Show.

An incident of that long ago circus day my father told me—

"The show pitched its tents on the commons west of fifth street, and the parade formed on Granville street in front of our house. A feature of the show was the famous Tom Thumb, who rode in a beautiful little carriage drawn by Shetland ponies, the outfit a gift from Queen Victoria. The little equipage was standing before my gate unoccupied. I had our baby Edward in my arms and I asked permission of the attendant to place him in the little satin lined cab, which was graciously granted. After a ride of a few yards the baby very audibly objected to being removed from the little vehicle."

The house referred to was rented from Mr. and Mrs. Eis, the grandparents of the late Mrs. Chas. Hempstead. It stood unchanged for more than sixty years, known as the Harrison property. The baby, unlike Tom Thumb, grew to man's size and is Dr. E. E. Montgomery of Philadelphia, Pa. A recent Denison University publication gives him a place in their Hall of Fame.

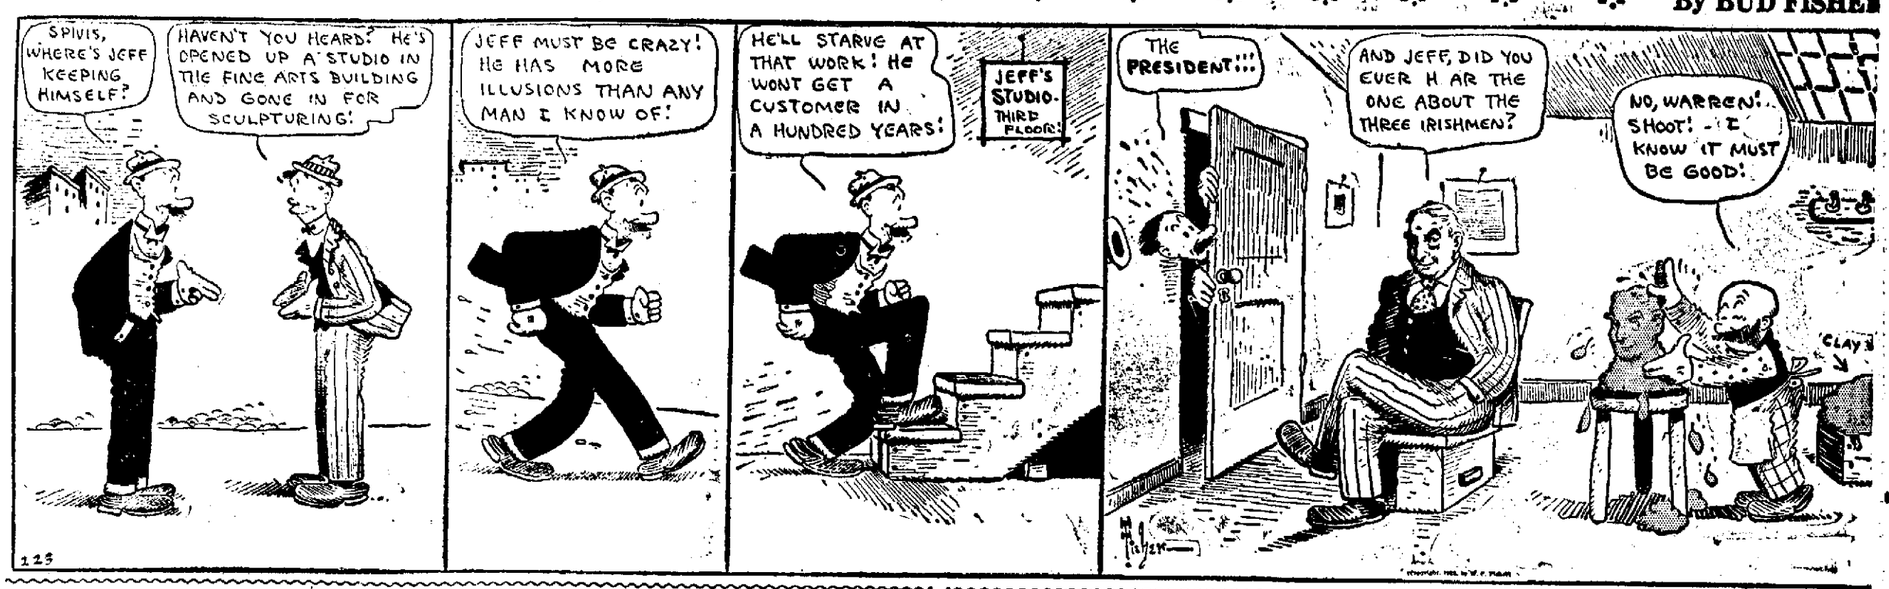

NELLE M. JOHNSON.

PIGS IS PIGHEADED.
Because there is so much mash and other home brew and home distilling refuse mixed in the garbage of Fitchburg, Mass., the pigs refuse to eat the refuse, the garbage contractors report. These contractors want the city to order householders to separate their ordinary garbage from their brew leavings.

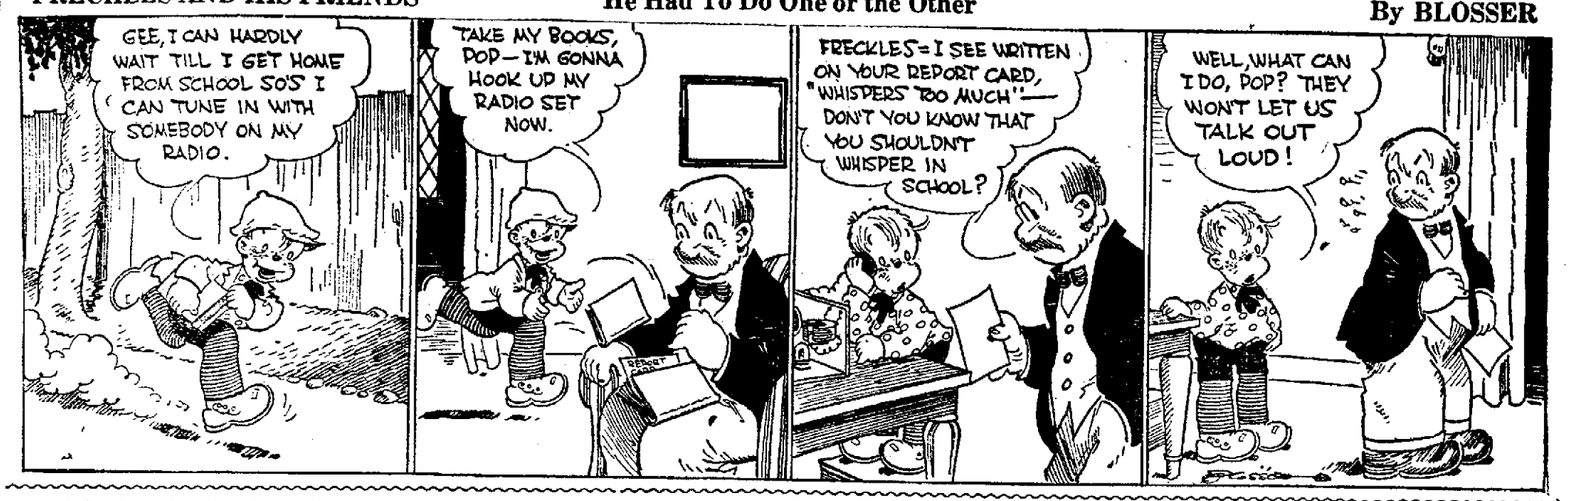

EXTRA DRY NOTES.
When the newest theater in New York was christened recently, the owner's wife broke a bottle of real champagne over its "bow," thereby causing real pain to the thirsty beholders.

MAY ELIMINATE RADIO AERIAL

The Government Scientists Working On Theory That Antenna In Wireless is Not Needed

Washington, April 24.—(By NEA.)—Radio communication with ships at sea without the use of aerials may soon be accomplished.

This advancement is suggested by government and private wireless experts here who have been working to simplify radio transmitting and receiving apparatus.

That it is a possibility has been demonstrated at recent tests made by Maj. Gen. George O. Squier, in charge of the U. S. army air service. At these experiments, General Squier showed he could receive radio signals over land without using any antenna.

Instead of catching the wireless waves by means of a special aerial General Squier attached the radio receiving set to an electric light line. The land line acted as his aerial.

In the same way, experts here suggest there is a possibility of sending and receiving radio messages over sea with no antenna to transmit or receive them. In fact, progress has already been made toward eliminating ship antenna.

A few years ago, submarines were handicapped by the clumsy masts and wires they had to carry for their antenna. In submerging, these aerials had to reach above the surface. They were easy tell-tales for enemy craft during the war.

By experiments and research, government wireless engineers found a way to bring the aerial under the surface with the submarine, so that nothing but the periscope showed. They had found that radio waves could travel just as well through water as through air. The latest type submarine now has its antenna stretched close to the deck, without any masts or cross-beams to hinder it in submerging.

Now the radio experts are considering the electric lines within the submarine or ocean lines, which might be used to catch radio signals as effectively as the land electric light lines.

THE COURTS

Charges Wilful Absence.
Kate Lott filed suit for divorce from Gus Lott in probate court this morning through Attorney B. G. Smythe. The petition charges gross neglect, wilful absence for three years and drunkenness. Divorce and proper relief are asked of the court.

New Trial Denied.
Motion for a new trial was overruled by Judge Moore of the common pleas court this morning in the case of M. E. Mead, administrator, et al vs. Edwin P. Green et al., a suit brought to collect on a note and mortgage. The jurors found in favor of the plaintiffs when the case was tried.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT.
Estate of Laura E. Lemley, Deceased.
John L. Lemley has been duly appointed and qualified as Executor of the will of Laura E. Lemley late of Licking County, Ohio.
Dated this 21st day of April, 1922.
HARVEY J. ALEXANDER,
4-24-mon-3t Probate Judge.

BOSTON CELEBRATES.
Laborers wrecking an old studio building in Boston unwalled a cellar stocked with wine and whiskey, presumably the property of a noted clubman who died thirty years ago. A rush for jobs as house-wreckers followed, but the majority of them will get "wall-eyed" digging away at the mortar before they become "Plastered." This discovery in the walls forgotten wine cellar sounds like the foundation of an awful souse.

HENCE, A DRY DOCK.
Dock workers in London led off the boycott of beer declared by the National Transport Workers' Federation as a protest against the threat to reduce wages of brewery workers while still keeping up the price of drink. This turned many a commercial wharf into a dry dock.

NO BLUE RIBBON DOG.
A Huntington, W. Va., man, Bernard Staley, has a rat terrier who dug up two buried caches of hooch within forty-eight hours. He has a nose for booze and scents the bottle from afar.

Oregon produces 70,000,000 dozen eggs annually.

GERARD SEES MENACE IN PACT

Former Ambassador To Germany Says New Poland Will Be Gobbled Up By Russia and Germany.

New York, April 24.—(By NEA)—"What I have for a year or more predicted in speeches and articles has happened," declares James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, in a statement to the Newspaper Enterprise association

"Germany forced into a corner by the demand for sums greater than can be wrung from the German people, has chosen to make an alliance with Russia and to seek from the economic benefits to be derived from such an alliance the wherewithal to pay her pressing creditors.

"Few people realize that for years the commercial language of Russia was German, that the educated part of the population of the Baltic states is Germanic, and that from the men of German descent in these states were chosen many of the best generals and administrators of the old Russia.

"And as surely as night follows day there will follow a military alliance between Germany and Russia.

"France may well fear the day when the hordes of Russia, drilled and disciplined by Germans, led by Germans, with all the vast resources of Russia administered by Germans, will pour across Europe in that constant drive to the west which seems brute instinct of all Europeans.

"The new Poland will disappear, once more partitioned between Germany and Russia.

"No more important and startling event than this alliance has happened since that Armistice Day, when the kaiser's empire fell." (Copyright, 1922, by NEA Service.)

IS TREATY OF CONVENIENCE

Anti-Bolshik Leader Here Says Soviets Needed Credits.

Germany Did it to Force Concessions in Reparation Matter.

New York, April 24.—(By NEA.)—The German-Bolshevist treaty does not change materially the long-established relationships between Germany and the Bolsheviki, according to A. J. Sack, director of the Russian Information Bureau of the United States, representing the Russian democratic anti-bolshevist parties.

"What makes the new German Bolshevist treaty of interest, he says, "it was concluded. It is an allaince between Bolshevist Russia and Germany in order to force certain things at the Genoa conference. The Bolshevist regime needs credits without which it cannot continue. Germany wants reduction in reparations.

"The German-Bolshevist treaty is a threat that if the allied countries will not agree to help Russia and Germany, the lateer will get along without them and, perhaps, against them.

"From this point of view, the treaty is a stupid blunder on the part of both the Germans and the Bolshevviki.

"The only result of the German-Bolshevist treaty will be that the French position at the Genoa conference will be materially strengthened, and Mr. Lloyd George will be less conciliatory towards Germany, and Bolshevist Russia. In his address before the British Parliament on April 3, while emphazing Russia's need for capital, the British prime minister made it clear that "it will not get capital without security, confidence and peace, internal as well as external."

"The behavior of the Bolshevist delegation at Genoa does not inspire confidence and does not promise the establishment of internal peace in Russia and external peace between Russia under the Bolshevist regime and the western civilization.

Those who were skeptical from the very beginning of the idea of bringing fire and water peacefully together, have received through the German Bolshevist treaty additional proof that peaceful cooperation between Bolshevism and democratic civilization cannot be established.

Chicago Grain Review.

Chicago. April 24.—With the beginning of May deliveries only a week off, the wheat market showed a tendency early today to rise in price for May, but to decline for later months. The difficulty of filling contracts for May delivery was emphasized by expectance of a reduction in the United States visible supply total. On the other hand, believers in low prices put stress on advices that Canadian wheat was already being imported at a profitable duty paid.

Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures to 1 1-2c higher with May $148@1.49, and July, $1.29 1-2@1.29 3-4, were followed by moderate fluctuations in which May continued well above Saturday's finish with July and September below that level.

Seaboard demand gave a little firmness to corn. After opening unchanged to 3-8@1-2c higher, July, 65 3-4@66c, the corn market held at about the initial range.

Oats sympathized with corn, starting a shade off to 1-4c higher, July, 41 1-@41 1-4c and after hardening a little more.

Lower quotations on hogs tended to weaken the provision market.

U. S. WILL NOT BE AFFECTED BY NEW PACT NOW

Experts Say Soviet-German Treaty is Entirely Political.

Restored Trade Relations Means Two Nations Will Barter Only.

Washington, April 24.—(By NEA)—The Russo-German treaty restoring full diplomatic and trade relationships between Germany and Russia is of little immediate significance in a business or trade way, according to Uncle Sam's commercial experts.

Its present importance is political, not economic, they maintain. However, its commercial importance may be of tremendous value to Germany in another generation.

Dr. Julius Klein, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, declares that whatever the effect of the treaty may be politically it is not likely to weld effectively the economic resources of the two countries.

Allen Goldsmith, department expert on German and Russian commerce, says that for the present at least dealings between the two countries will have to be primarily on a basis of barter and that this trade is not likely to affect greatly present currents of commerce.

"The big advantage of the treaty, commercially," says Goldsmith, "is that it puts Germany in a position to obtain full commercial information which she may later use to advantage.

"What trade is developed for the present will be largely a matter of barter, and Russia just now has little with which to trade on that basis. She has aconsiderable stock of furs, which may be traded for German textiles. But, generally speaking, she has neither agricultural products, nor manufactured goods, nor money.

"One proposal which may make possible some considerable exchanges between the two countries, however, is that Russia supply raw materials to Germany, Germany to pay for these with finished products produced in German factories. For Germany's part in this transaction, she would have left a large part of this material for her own use or for sale and export in finished form to other countries.

"Russia needs, more than anything else, structural materials and textiles. Germany has these for sale. But until Russia is able to pay in something more substantial than paper rubles, the problem of financing her trade will require something more than a mere treaty with Germany.

"The futility of mere trade contacts with Russia, until some general basis for credit or stimulation of Russia's ability to produce the wherewithal with which to pay, would seem to be illustrated in the practical failure of great Britian's trade agreement, entered into a year ago."

But Goldsmith believes that if, 25 years from now, Germany is able to dominate Russian commerce, she may reap a rich reward from her present move.

Dr. Klein, on the other hand, is convinced that Germany and Russia never will be harmonious bedfellows.

"The German is loud in his protestations that he, better than anyone else, knows Russia," Klein says. "It isn't so. The average Russian has much nearer the point of view of America than of Germay. He likes Americans better than Germans.

"And, on the other hand, America understands better the needs of Russia and can more clearly meet her demands. We never will let Germany act as a feeder of American products into Russia. When American products go into Russia they are going to be sold by American salesmen and stand on their own feet as American-made products."

SPEED DEMONS GETTING READY TO SHATTER OLD RECORDS

THE GREAT SPEEDWAY

WARMING UP

Automobile fans, now rivaling even the baseball fraternity, are turning their eyes toward Indianapolis where torpedo shaped racing cars of both domestic and foreign manufacture already are warming up for the annual Memorial Day international races. The two and a half mile brick speedway is splattered with oil sprayed from the throbbing motors, but its non-skid surface offers good traction despite the lubrication.

The speedway has an interesting history. The first race in 1909 ruined the original pavement. It resulted in the death and injury of several persons, and revealed to the world the terrible shock and wear to which a pavement is subjected by a speeding automobile.

Racing machines, running at 120 miles an hour on the straight stretches, ripped great pieces out of the surface and wore deep ruts in it before the race was fairly begun. Wheels caught in these ruts as the race progressed, causing machines to turn turtle or swerve and plunge over the track, through the guard rails and into the crowds of watchers.

The country was appalled at the catastrophe. Owners of the track, determined to prevent a repetition, started an investigation of all road paving materials with a view to selecting a permanent pavement.

After a lengthy survey and actual test, vitrified brick was chosen as the only material that could stand up under the shock and temperature changes without cracking or rolling up. For twelve years the brick track has been in service and veteran drivers say it is smoother and better today than when they ran their first race.

HEALTH HINTS BY RADIO

A semi-weekly "radio telephone health bulletin service" has been inaugurated by the United States Public Health Service. It is planned to broadcast every Tuesday and Friday through the naval radio station at Anacostia, Va., a message of advice or how the average man and woman may insure continued good health. Under very favorable weather conditions it is expected that messages will be heard on the Pacific Coast, in Europe, and the north parts of South America.—Scientific American.

REASON IN ANIMALS.

Instances of "Animal sagacity" which have been claimed to show reasoning power are explained by an expert to be due to extreme sensitiveness to smell, to accidental acts, or to what is called "association."

TRULY ONE FOR ALL.

A certain little suburban car line near Washington, D. C., is unique in having the owner of the road as President, motorman, conductor, general utility man and bureau of information.

At the Brazilian centennial exposition in September of this year the United States will have an exhibit showing the work done by the various bureaus in promoting the mining industry.

THE RADIO INDUSTRY

It is evident that the radio industry has expanded to undreamed of proportions within the past few months. It is not surprising, therefore, to learn that one concern expects to do a business of well over $50,000,000 this year, judging by the returns of the past few months. There is an ever-increasing demand for vacuum tubes; it is estimated that by this writing 75,000 tubes are being turned out a month, and that by the time this reaches the reader the production will probably exceed 100,000 tubes per month. Authorities in and out of radio are of the opinion that the radio business as it is now developing is going to be greater than the phonographic industry, which has been doing a business in excess of $400,000,000 per year.—Scientific American.

FIRE FIGHTING BY AIRPLANE

Paris, stirred by the 40,000,000 franc fire that consumed a big department store, is considering the equipment of airplanes with fire-extinguishing bombs. These would be filled with a gas that chokes out the flames without being injurious to the neighboring population. Aviators proposing the plan claim one airplane could carry enough bombs to extinguish a large fire well under way. Experiments are to be conducted in the suburbs to determine the feasibility of the scheme.—Scientific American.

NEWARK WINS IN 10 INNINGS

High School Opens Season With Victory At Cambridge — Southpaws in Opening Battle.

Newark high school opened the baseball season at Cambridge Saturday afternoon with a 5 to 4 victory, playing 10 innings. This was also the first game for Cambridge. Weather and ground conditions considered it was a very good game and deserved a better crowd. "Pete" Davis and Boyd, both southpaws, started the game.

Brown scored first in the second inning. When Wilson, on Hunt's hit in front of plate, dropped Barrick's peg, the first man was on base. He advanced to third on Morgan's double and scored when Davis lost control, passing Swartz and Boyd. Lynn tied the score in next inning on a base on balls, two stolen bases and an error by Swartz. Cambridge scored two runs in the fifth on sigles ad a triple by Hannis.

Horwarth opened the seventh with a single, stole second and scored on two infield outs. Boyd scored for Cambridge on Horwarth's error and Headley's long double. That ended Cambridge's scoring while Newark secured one run in the eighth on Montgomery's hit, which Hunt fumbled, a stolen base and a clean single by Strand. The score was tied when English doubled to right, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Barrick out on first base. Lynn scored the winning run and won his own game in the 10th on a single, his third stolen base and an error by Lewis.

Cambridge executed a double play in the third when Baker was caught off second. Davis was compelled to leave the game in the sixth on account of a sore arm, and Lynn, who succeeded him, pitched a fine game for the last five innings, besides doing very clever base stealing.

Barrick caught a superb game and showed real gameness after receiving two foul tips on his kneecap by finishing the game.

Lewis at first for Brown played well and was the leading batsman for the game.

Hannis, who caught the last inning of the game, looked much better than Swartz, while Jenkins and Headley played a good game in the field.

The best of sportsmanship prevailed during the game and the Newark boys had a fine and enjoyable trip. Newark will play a return game May 12 with Cambridge. This week's game will be played at White Athletic field, Friday afternoon.

PIRATES MASSACRE CHICAGO PITCHERS

Chicago, April 24—Pittsburgh went on a batting rampage yesterday and pounded Chicago's pitchers for 22 hits, winning the first game of the series, 14 to 3. Carlson was wild, but the locals could not hit him effectively. The batting of Tierney and Mokan and the fielding of Statz, Miller and Hollocher featured. A capacity crowd, estimated at 20,000 was present and overflowed the outfield, making ground rules necessary.

10TH INNING HOMER WINS FOR ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, April 24.—A home run by Tobin, first man at bat in the tenth inning, gave St. Louis a 4 to 3 victory over Chicago here yesterday and an even break in the series. Williams of St. Louis and Mostil of Chicago also clouted the ball for circuit drives, this being Williams' fourth home run in two successive days. The game was a tight battle between the opposing hurlers, Hodge allowing the Browns eight hits while Vangilder held the visitors to six safeties.

TIGERS BUNCH HITS AND BEAT CLEVELAND

Detroit, April 24.—Cleveland outhit Detroit yesterday, but the Tigers bunched their safeties more opportunely and defeated the Indians for the third consecutive time. The score was 4 to 3. Cleveland threatened in the ninth, but Oldham was sent to Pillette's relief and checked the rally.

DEMPSEY-WILLS BOUT POSSIBLE

English Promoter Asks Wills If He Would Go To London For Match.

New York, April 24.—The possibility of Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, colored heavyweight contender, meeting in a championship contest in London this summer loomed today on the strength of a cablegram from George McDonald, English promoter.

According to Dia Dollings, English fight manager in New York, he received the following message last night from McDonald.

"Can you get Wills to come to London to Box Dempsey?"

Wills when informed of the cablegram, announced he would be "Ready to depart for the first boat," but his manager offered no comment except to say he "could see no reason for leaving yet."

Dollings did not indicate whether he had sought a definite answer to McDonald's cablegram.

Dempsey, so far as is known here, has not signed articles definitely for any match in connection with his present tour of Europe although he has announced his willingness to meet Carpentier in a return engagement or other European contenders.

GIANTS CLEAN UP BROOKLYN SERIES

Brooklyn, April 24.—The New York Giants made the series three out of four yesterday by defeating Brooklyn 7 to 3. Smith sent the Dodgers into the leading the second inning by driving a homer over the fence with two men on the bases, but could not hold his advantage. Nehf pitched great ball after the second inning.

HOYT WINS THIRD STRAIGHT VICTORY

New York, April 24.—The New York Yankees made a clean sweep of their four-game series with Washington, winning the last game yesterday 3 to 0.

Hoyt pitched his third straight victory. A great throw to the plate by Fewster prevented Washington from scoring in the first inning when the visitors filled the bases with no one out.

ARGENTINE PUG AFTER DEMPSEY

College Trained Man From Buenos Aires Wants His Crown.

Willing To Work Way Up To Right To Challenge Title Holder.

New York, April 24.—(By NEA.)—Luis Firpo, Argentine boxer, recently come to the United States with the laudable object of separating Jack Dempsey from his crown, probably possesses the most colorful personality of any fighter in the ring today.

Though he is taller and heavier than Dempsey, the more one talks with him the more one is impressed with their resemblance.

Firpo is handicapped at present by the fact that he doesn't speak English, but he is studying hard to remedy that. Conversing through his secretary, Jose Guiu, he gives the impression that with the proper kind of handling in a year or two he may give Mr. Dempsey a very busy afternoon.

Here is Firpo's own story of how he took up the fight game:

"I was going to college when Harry Wills, Sam Langford and other American fighters came to Buenos Aires to give boxing exhibitions. I went to most of the bouts and became so enthusiastic that I couldn't stay out of the game.

"After graduating from college I took lessons in boxing, and finally entered the ring as a professional.

"My family, which is well known in Buenos Aires, objected at first to my becoming a pugilist, but my success won them over. My four brothers have become regular fight fans.

"I have been in some thirty fights in my own country, 20 of which I won by knockouts. There is no future there for a fighter. Here in the United States are all the champions.

"Not that I want to meet Mr. Dempsey today or tomorrow. I know that I am too green. In a year, maybe two, I will know enough, and then I honestly believe that I can beat the champion.

"Meanwhile I shall take on heavyweights in my class and hope to work my way to the top of the division, gaining the necesary mental and physical equipment to fit me for a match with the champion.

"I am half Italian, half Spanish. I never heard of that combination in the ring before, but I hope that it will be as good as the Irish.

"I intend to stay in the United States until the chance comes to meet America's super-man, whom they say cannot be beaten, and then perhaps I shall return to beautiful Buenos Aires—but not before."

The rather grim look on Firpo's face again made me think that perhaps—some day—Jack Dempsey would be in for a rather busy afternoon.

FRENCH SPEED DEMON RETURNS

Enters Two Cars in Indianapolis Races to Win Back for France Speedway Title Held By Americans.

Indianapolis, April 24.—Jules Goux famous French racer, is coming to America to pilot a Ballot in the International 500-mile race for approximately $100,000 to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Tuesday, May 30.

He is bringing with him two Ballot cars, but the driver of the second car has not yet been named. It is believed by speedway officials that he will choose an American pilot as his teammate.

Goux, among the first of the foreign invaders, halted the parade of American victories of 1911 and 1912 by winning in the Peugeot in 1913, starting a string of foreign victories that remained unbroken until the late Gaston Chevrolet won in a Yankee car in 1920. Then came Tommy Milton's Yankeeland victory last year.

Goux was not in the race last year, and it is said he is remaining in an earnest effort to break up the American wins as he did in 1913. But he will find the Americans very firmly entrenched and mighty reluctant to give an inch.

The Frenchman was wedded to Miss Ruth Davis, an Indianapolis girl, following the close of the 1920 race. He is a great admirer of Howard Wilcox, who has driven in every Indianapolis race, winning in 1919, and he was for several years a teammate with "Howdy." It is said Goux tried to get Wilcox to switch from the Peugeot which he will drive, to the Ballot, but Wilcox refuses.

HEAVY DEMANDS ON HICKORY.

Hickory, with its unrivaled strength, elasticity and resiliency, is used for tool handles, for the spokes of automobile wheels, for golf clubs, and for many other purposes. There is increasingly keen competition among the industries for this wood, although there are still 15,784,000,000 board feet standing throughout the country. Manufacturers have to go farther for their supply, and really select stock is already very hard to obtain in the required quantities.

The "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the lower intestine its entire length and keeps it always free of poisonous waste.

Tyrrell of New York, who was a specialist on Intestinal Complaints for 25 years in that city. Why not cut this out as a reminder to get this book as soon as possible. Remember, please, it is free.

WALTER JOHNSON NOW IN HIS 15TH SEASON

The season of 1922 marks the fifteenth campaign of Walter Johnson as a member of the Washington club of the American League.

Unless it is Christy Mathewson, no pitcher in the history of baseball is a greater favorite with fandom.

In every year that he has been connected with the Nationals the work of Johnson has been the outstanding features of the team's showing.

Two or three years back it looked as if Johnson was slipping. Trouble with his arm robbed him of some of his old-time speed. Many of the experts said he was through.

Johnson, however, has come back strong, and expresses the belief that he has at least five years more of service as a big leaguer.

During his connection with the American League Johnson has chalked up 320 victories. He would like to eclipse the record of Cy Young, but has his doubts as to his ability to turn the trick.

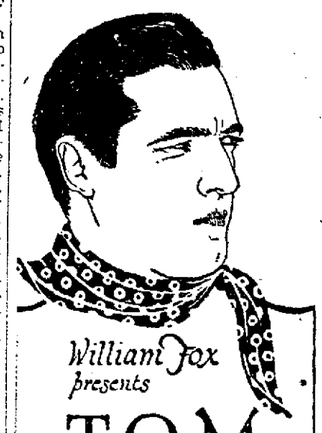

The pleasing thing about Johnson is that success has in no way changed him. He is beloved by every ball player, the highest tribute that could be paid a player.
